FOREWORD

This book is intended to preserve the bit of American history that deals with Pilgrim Thomas Rogers who came to America on the Mayflower in 1620. Containing mostly the lines of members of the Thomas Rogers Society, who have submitted documentary proof, the volume also includes some lines from published genealogical volumes such as Genealogical and Family History of the State of Maine by George T. Little, 1909.

Part II of our book contains lines of our associate members who claim descent from William Rogers of Connecticut and Long Island, and from James Rogers of New London, Connecticut, both believed by many to be two more sons of Thomas Rogers. Proof that William was not a son of the Pilgrim was published in New York Genealogical and Biographical Record in 1929 (60:102-4). Lines through William and James are not at present accepted by the General Society of Mayflower Descendants.

In 1911, John C. Underwood published Lineage of the Rogers Family--England: Embracing John Rogers the Martyr; Emigrant Descendants to America and Issue, a beautifully done but undocumented book, stating that the above-mentioned William and James Rogers were sons of Thomas of the Mayflower. In Mayflower Families Through Five Generations, Volume Two, the Mayflower Society has rejected Underwood's claim that Pilgrim Thomas Rogers was a descendant of John Rogers the Martyr, in light of Joseph L. Chester's well-documented volume, John Rogers: the Compiler of the first Authorised English Bible; the Pioneer of the English Reformation; and its first Martyr, 1861. Chester's book may be consulted in many libraries; the Underwood work may be found in the Library of Congress, the New York Public Library, and one or two other libraries. A summary of the ancestries claimed for the Martyr by Chester and Underwood appears in our Appendix.

Feeling that our book and Mayflower Families Through Five Generations, Volume Two, published by the Mayflower Society, should be used as companion volumes, we have purposely not duplicated all the material contained in the latter work. Instead, we have started our American family with Thomas[1] Rogers of the Mayflower and then have listed names and dates of the first five generations of his descendants, for not everyone will own both books. From that point to the present day, we have included bits of biographical data that add to the answer to the question "What became of the descendants of the Pilgrims?"

TO THE READER

The lineage material comprising this work has been collected and presented as completely and correctly as circumstances allowed. The vagaries of handwriting may have caused a very few errors in spelling of names. And in many cases, only the member of a generation pertinent to the particular line is listed, with all siblings omitted. Thus, beyond the fifth generation, this book provides a collection of lines from Pilgrim Thomas Rogers, but does not profess to be a complete genealogical record.

The numbering system used here for the identification of descendants requires explanation. No intelligent use can be made of this record without first mastering the system. In Part I, Pilgrim Thomas Rogers is designated as 1. His two known sons, Joseph and John, are represented by the numbers 1-1 and 1-2, respectively (in the order of their birth). Likewise, the number of each member of subsequent generations is formed by adding to his father's or mother's number, the digit representing his own position among the parent's children.

Any descendant recorded here can trace his line by finding his own name in the index, learning his identification number, then tracing the line back or forward.

Moreover, additional information is afforded by these numbers:

(1) Each number indicates the generation to which a given descendant belongs. That is, the number of digits is equal to the number of the generation.

(2) Each number obviously contains the number of each ancestor. Thus, from 1-2-3-5-2, it is evident that that individual's father (or mother) was 1-2-3-5, his grandfather (or grandmother) was 1-2-3, etc.

When only one child in a family is known to us, that child is designated as 1 in his generation.

In Part II, in order to differentiate the lines of William and James Rogers from each other and from the lines in Part I, William is designated as W, James as J. Subsequent generations are treated as in Part I.

The designation of male descendants of the same name as Jr., III, etc., is used when given. Such usage was not customary in the early generations, but is almost universal in more recent times.

When the surname of the children listed in a family is Rogers, as was very frequent in the early generations, the surname is not indicated after each child.

When the state is not given after a town or city, when first mentioned in a family, the reader should assume Massachusetts. Most events of the early generations took place there.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

I wish to thank the Thomas Rogers descendants who submitted information on the various lines. I am especially grateful to the following individuals for their contributions.

Virginia E. Adamson, C.A.L.S., our founder, whose desire it was to preserve a bit of American history and who conceived the idea of publishing our book, has also contributed basic information on the Rogers family.

Jeanne E. Sawtelle, who served as our first genealogist, spent many, many hours over a period of several years in the enormous task of organizing and processing the lineages in preparation for the book.

Elizabeth S. Daniel, Thomas Rogers Society Secretary, has virtually carried the full work load of producing the book. An editor by profession, she has devoted the past eleven months to completing the processing of the lineage material, then typing, proofreading, and indexing the book. Her expertise in this field has been an asset to the Society.

Members and friends of the Society who helped with the indexing included Jeanne R. Bonaca, Patricia M. Crouse, Elizabeth C. France, Mary Garland Phinney, Ann C. Rushby, Mary H. Stewart, Lotte G. Tschinkel, and Helen Wersebe.

Col. Donald E. Phinney (Ret.), Thomas Rogers Society Treasurer, has been fully responsible for soliciting contributions and marketing the book. His astute knowledge of finances and business has been an important factor in the success of this venture.

Stephen R. Bryant, Thomas Rogers Society Vice President, has handled the final job, the distribution of this volume.

A very special thanks goes to the members who rallied to our aid with financial help. They are listed on the following pages. Because of their generosity, we were able to publish in 1980, and the Society is most grateful to these donors.

I would also like to mention a few whose guidance was invaluable to me: John Frederick Dorman, C.G., F.A.S.G., editor of the Virginia Genealogist, and President of the Board for Certification of Genealogists; Ruth Wilder Sherman, C.G., F.A.S.G., and contributing genealogist to our book; Netti Schriener-Yantis, C.G. and President of the National Genealogical Society; Martha Schultz Dietrich, C.A.L.S., Maryland State DAR Regent and Past National Registrar of Colonial Dames XVII Century; Dorothy M. Whitcomb, staff genealogist for Colonial Dames XVII Century, and Chairman of the Third Supplement DAR Patriot Index Committee; Maryann W. Wellhouse, C.G.R.S., staff genealogist for NSDAR; Amanda Arbogast Forbes, author of a recent genealogy book, and Ann Favand of Gateway Press.

With love and affection, I would like to mention the two who generated my interest in genealogy and were responsible for the information I contributed on my early lines: my mother, Esther Withee Earle, and my cousin, Dorothy Vanderveer Steward.

PART I

THOMAS ROGERS,
HIS SONS JOSEPH AND JOHN,
AND SOME OF THEIR DESCENDANTS

THE FIRST GENERATION IN AMERICA--THOMAS ROGERS

Pilgrim THOMAS ROGERS was born, probably in England, before 1590. The first certain reference to him was in 1618, when he became a citizen of Leiden, Holland, sponsored by two of the Pilgrim community who had come from Worksop, Notts., and Sandwich, Kent, both in England. Therefore, Thomas himself may have come from one of those towns. In April 1620, Thomas sold his Leiden home in preparation for the voyage across the Atlantic, and he died early in 1621, in Plymouth Colony.

The only other information that we positively know about Thomas Rogers is that Gov. William Bradford, in 1650, wrote that "Thomas Rogers and Joseph his son" came on the Mayflower, and that "Thomas died in the first sickness, but his son Joseph is still living and is married and hath six children. The rest of Thomas Rogers's (children) came over and are married and have many children."

We know from the 1622 Poll Tax that the Rogers family in Leiden then consisted of widow Elsgen (or Elizabeth), son Jan (or John), and daughters Lysbeth and Grietgen (or Elizabeth and Margaret). The English equivalents were supplied by the Leiden Archivist. John Rogers arrived at Plymouth about 1630, with the last of the Leiden contingent. His identity is proved by a 1640 grant to him and Joseph Rogers, calling them brothers, and giving them each 50 acres at the North River. If Thomas had other sons, it is highly unlikely that they lived to maturity, since they neither appear in the 1622 tax list, nor were they granted land with their brothers.

From Governor Bradford's statement, it appears that at least one of the Rogers daughters also came to New England, probably Elizabeth, since Joseph[2] and John[2] each named a daughter Elizabeth. Research among the married women of Plymouth and Salem, where many of the Leiden group landed, has so far failed to show any Margaret or Elizabeth as a likely daughter of Thomas Rogers.

With the frequency of the surname Rogers among seventeenth century immigrants to the thirteen colonies, it would be quite speculative to claim a relationship between the Pilgrim family and one in Virginia, as does Underwood. Pope's Pioneers of Massachusetts lists eighteen Rogers families who came to New England before 1650; Nugent's Cavaliers and Pioneers shows at least a dozen settlers bearing the Rogers surname who came to Virginia before 1666; and Skordas's Early Settlers of Maryland indexes about a dozen who arrived in that colony before 1680.

To date, the Mayflower Society recognizes only Joseph and John as children of Pilgrim Thomas Rogers. Part I of this book will have the names and lineages of many of their descendants. Part II will have the names and lineages of our associate members who have traced their lines back to William and James Rogers, both of whom have been claimed to descend from the Pilgrim. Continuing research into early Massachusetts families may discover the Rogers daughters and open up membership in the Thomas Rogers Society to many more people.

THE SECOND GENERATION*

JOSEPH ROGERS, son of Thomas and Elizabeth(?) (-----) Rogers, was born in England or Holland in 1610 or earlier; died between 2 and 15 Jan. 1677/8; was buried in Eastham in Old Cove Burial Ground. He married HANNAH -----. Although she may not have been his only wife or even the mother of his children, the name Hannah was used repeatedly in subsequent generations, making her position as mother, grandmother, etc., very likely.

Joseph came to Plymouth with his father on the Mayflower in 1620 when he was ten or twelve years old. Many branches of the Rogers family hold the tradition that Gov. Bradford took Joseph into his home after Thomas died in the winter of 1620/1. Joseph became a freeman in 1633, and received permission in 1635/6 to operate a ferry across the Jones River. In 1636 he was first noted as serving on a jury. Joseph was granted 30 acres of land in 1638, and became a constable of Duxbury in 1639/40. He and his brother John were each granted 50 acres of upland in 1640.

Joseph seems to have moved to Eastham, then known as Nauset, around 1647. In June of that year he was made a lieutenant, with the duty of exercising the men at arms there. He apparently lived briefly in Sandwich in the early 1650's. He served on the council of war during 1658, was freed from his lieutenancy in 1661, but reestablished in 1664. In 1670 he was a selectman in Eastham.

The original will of Joseph Rogers no longer exists. However, a copy of same, recorded in the Plymouth Colony Record Book at the time of his death, designates his son Thomas Rogers as "whole and sole executor," and makes specific bequests to his sons: Thomas, John, and James Rogers; to his daughters: "Elizabeth higgens" and "Hannah Rogers"; and to "Benjah higgens my Grandchild on Condition hee live with mee untill I die." He also willed that ten shillings of his estate "be disposed off for the use of the Church of Christ in Eastham as shalbe Judged most Nessesarie." And he provided for the comfort and security of his "Loveing wife hannah Rogers" for "as longe as shee lives."

Joseph's inventory was taken 15 Jan. 1677/8, and the will was probated 5 March 1677/8. Interestingly, there is no mention of Joseph's daughter Mary in the will. Son Thomas Rogers died before the estate was completely settled, so son John Rogers and Capt. Jonathan Sparrow were appointed to conclude the settlement.

Children:

6 Mary, b. prob. Duxbury 22 Sept. 1644.
7 James, b. Eastham 18 Oct. 1648.
8 Hannah, b. Sandwich or Eastham 8 Aug. 1652.

1-2

JOHN ROGERS, son of Thomas and Elizabeth(?) ----- Rogers, was born in England or Holland ca. 1614; died in Duxbury between 26 Aug. 1691 and 20 Sept. 1692. He married ANNA CHURCHMAN in Plymouth 16 Apr. 1639. She was living in May 1665, probably still alive in Aug. 1670. Her parentage is unknown.

John was still living in Leiden, Holland, with his mother and probably sisters, in 1622. He came to New England about 1630 with the last group from the Leiden Pilgrim community. In 1634 he bought land in Duxbury, and was also granted 50 acres in 1640, as was his brother Joseph.

John served on a jury for the first time in 1641, was made a freeman around March 1641/2, and became a highway surveyor in Duxbury in 1644. He was also a deputy at court in 1657, and was made a constable of Duxbury in 1666.

There were a number of land transactions in which John was involved between 1662 and 1685. As one of the "ancient freemen," he was given land in 1662 on the northerly side of Taunton. In 1664 he sold half his meadow northwest of "Joanes River," with the consent of wife Anna. This is the only time she is called by name except at their marriage.

In 1667 he was granted 100 acres on Coteticutt River, and in 1670 John Rogers of Duxbury weaver "and his wife" acknowledged a deed made in 1654, through which he had sold the 50 acres granted to him in 1640. He sold another 100 acres in 1673. His last recorded land transaction was the sale of an acre of his Duxbury land to Wrestling Brewster, acknowledging his signature in 1685.

The original will of John Rogers, probated 20 Sept. 1692, is no longer in existence, but the copy entered in the records of Plymouth Colony at his death appoints his son John Rogers as "sole Executor and Administrator," and provides bequests to his grandsons: John Rogers, John "Tisdall," and Joseph and Edward Richmond; to his daughters: "Anne Terrey," Abigail Richmond, and Elizabeth Williams; and to his granddaughters: "Elibeth," Ruth, and Sarah Rogers, and Hannah Bradford.

Children, prob. all b. Duxbury:

PART II

WILLIAM AND JAMES ROGERS
AND A FEW OF THEIR DESCENDANTS

THE IMMIGRANTS--WILLIAM AND JAMES ROGERS

W

WILLIAM ROGERS, whose ancestry is not known, was born ca. 1613, probably in England. He died on Long Island, NY 13 July 1664.

William married in England ANN SHERMAN, born in 1601 there; died on Long Island in 1669. They came to New England before 1640, settled first in Wethersfield, CT, then moved to Southampton, Long Island, NY before 1644. William became a freeman there in 1649, lived a few years in Hempstead, and finally settled in Huntington, NY, where he bought land from the Indians in 1656.

It is thought that William and family may have come from Stratford-on-Avon, England; a similar family is recorded there.

Children:

1 Obadiah, b. England; may have m. Mary Russell(?).
2 John (or Jonathan), b. England.
3 Noah, d. Branford, CT 8 Oct. 1725; m. 8 Apr. 1673 Elizabeth Taintor.
4 Samuel.
5 Mary.
6 Hannah.

J

JAMES ROGERS, whose ancestry is also uncertain, was born in England or Holland ca. 1615. He came to America from London on the Increase in 1635, settled for a time in Stratford, CT, then moved to Milford, CT and finally to New London before 1660.

He married ELIZABETH ROWLAND in Stratford, CT, and he died in New London in Feb. 1687/8. James was a baker by trade, and his flourishing business enabled him to amass a considerable fortune and acquire a great deal of land. His influence was also felt in civic matters; for a time he served as a representative to the general court.

Children:

1 Samuel, b. Stratford, CT 12 Dec. 1640.
2 Joseph, b. Stratford 14 May 1646.
3 John, b. Stratford 1 Dec. 1648.
4 Bathsheba, b. Stratford 30 Dec. 1650; m. (1) 4 Mar. 1669/70 Richard Smith, (2) Samuel Fox.

APPENDIX

Although the Mayflower Society does not accept Pilgrim Thomas Rogers as a descendant of John Rogers, the Martyr, we present here this ancestry according to John C. Underwood.

We also present the ancestry of the Martyr as given by Colonel Joseph L. Chester, who went to England and studied the Rogers genealogy exhaustively, concluding that the descendants of the Martyr, though many, cannt be traced in either England or America. Chester's work was praised in Sir Anthony Wagner's English Genealogy, and his renown led to his burial in Westminster Abbey, the only American genealogist to be so honored.

Ancestry of Thomas Rogers, by Underwood

1 Sir Tancred de Hautville, born about 970, was a nobleman of Hautville, near Cautances in Normandy. He married (2) about 1013, Fredistana -----.

2 Robert de Hautville, Duke of Apulia in 1059 and later King of Naples, married (2) Siberelgaita -----.

3 Sir Roger de Hautville, born 1030, Grand Count Roger I of Sicily 1089-1102, married (2) Adelasis -----.

4 Count Roger II of Sicily, born 1093/4, had three wives: Alberia, Sibylla, and Beatrice.

7 Three generations later, Aaron (or John) Fitz-Roger fled, a religious refugee, to London, and became a merchant.

9/10 John Fitz-Roger, born about 1335 near Somersetshire, was either the grandson or great-grandson of Aaron Fitz-Roger. John married in 1385/6 Elizabeth, daughter of Sir Symon de Furneaux.

10/11 Sir John Fitz-Roger was born 1385/6 at Ashington in Somerset and married in 1406 Agnes de Mercaunt.

11/12 Thomas Rogers, gentleman, born in 1403(?), married (1) in 1433/4 an unknown bride.

12/13 Thomas Roger, Sergeant-at-law, was born in 1435 and resided at Bradford-on-Avon, Wilts. He married in 1483 Catherine, daughter of Sir Philip de Courtenay.

13/14 John Rogers of Deritend was born at Bradford in 1485, married Margaret Wyatt and lived at Deritend, in the suburbs of Birmingham, County Warwick.

14/15 John Rogers, the Martyr, was educated at Cambridge, receiving a degree in 1525. He married in Antwerp, Adrianna Pratt.

15/16 Bernard Rogers was born at Wittenberg, Saxony in 1543. He married about 1564 an unknown bride.

16/17 Thomas Mathew Rogers was born about 1565 in northern England or Scotland, and married a McMudo about 1586.

17/18 Thomas Rogers, born about 1586/7, said to have been one of the Pilgrims aboard the Mayflower in 1620.

Ancestry of John Rogers, the Martyr, by Chester

Among the Visitations of Dorsetshire, and other genealogical MSS. in the British Museum and elsewhere--dated 1565, 1612, and 1623--are several that vary in detail but generally agree in the following lineage:

1 John Fitz-Roger, who married a daughter of Sir Simon Furneup, descended from the Earls of Bush.

2 Sir John Fitz-Roger (or John Rogers) whose second wife was Anne, daughter and heir of Sir Thomas Etchingham and widow of Dr. Audley.

3 Sir Henry Fitz-Roger (or Henry Rogers) of Bryanstone, who married Avice (or Amy), daughter of William, Lord Stourton (who died in 1477).

4 Thomas Rogers, who appears to have had two elder brothers, Sir John Rogers of Bryanstone (who died in 1500), and James, a Doctor of Divinity, and also a younger brother Richard.
This is supposed to be the Thomas Rogers who married Catharine, daughter of Sir William Courtenay of Powderham, County of Devon (who died in 1485) by his wife Margaret, daughter of Lord Bonville. If this be so, he is identical with him known as Thomas Rogers of Bradford, County of Wilts, who with eight others formed the call of Serjeants at Law, June 9th 1477. He had two wives: 1st Cecilia, daughter and co-heir of William Besyll of Bradford and 2nd Catharine Courtenay (as above).

5 John (or Thomas) Rogers of Sutton Vallens, County of Kent, who appears to have been the first son by his second wife. This John (or Thomas) Rogers, or possibly a son of his, was doubtless the "Rogers of Sutton Vallens."

6/7 John Rogers of Deritend, in the parish of Aston, County of Warwick, who married Margery Wyatt.

7/8 John Rogers, said to be of Birmingham, Warwick, who married Adryan Pratt of Brabant.

8/9 Bernard.

INDEX OF NAMES

All names in the text are indexed, except for members of other Mayflower families, names mentioned in titles of reference books, and names in the Appendix.

Married women are indexed under their maiden names, and also under each married name with the maiden name in parentheses. For example, Phebe YOUNG, who married three times, is listed in the following four ways: YOUNG, Phebe; DYER, Phebe (Young); ATWOOD, Phebe (Young); and KNOWLES, Phebe (Young). When the maiden name is unknown, a married woman is listed as follows: BAKER, Lydia (-----).

Variant spellings of surnames are alphabetized under the most popular spelling, followed by the other spelling(s).
